STRIKES ARE FIGHT FOR POWER -- TRUMAN

UNO TO FORM ATOMIC BOMB COMMISSION

Byrnes Plan Wins O. K.; Prepare To Tackle Border Problems

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The United Nations today ordered the creation of a special commission to devise controls for atomic energy and moved swiftly toward action on three critical political issues involving Iran, Greece and Indonesia.

A few hours after the general assembly had voted unanimously to set up the atomic commission under the security council, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes left for Washington in President Truman's plane, the "Sacred Cow".

In a leave-taking with reporters Byrnes announced that the United States favored the quickest possible public hearings by the Security council on charges filed by Russia against the British in Greece and Indonesia, and by Iran against Russia.

Early Action Seen

The Security council ordered a meeting of its 11 members tomorrow to take up the three cases, and American officials strongly expected that the council would decide to hold public hearings on the three controversial cases next week.

Other developments today included the proposal by the Americans before the general assembly's trusteeship committee that hundreds of millions of people under colonial rule be assured that the ideals of the United Nations on self-rule and independence apply to them as well as to the people living under mandates and trusteeships.

The general assembly adopted a committee report setting the secretary general's net salary at $20,000 annually plus a $20,000 expense account, and fixing the term of his appointment at five years with the possibility of reappointment for a second five-year term.

Byrnes said Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., American member of the Security council, would head the American delegation after his departure, and that Senator Tom Connally would be the American member of the important general committee of the assembly.

In a speech to the assembly urging creation of the atomic commission Byrnes said it was necessary to save the world from an atomic armaments race.

Gen. Spaatz Named Head of Air Forces

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—President Truman today announced Gen. Carl A. Spaatz's appointment to be chief of the army air forces, succeeding Gen. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold.

The President told his news conference that General Arnold will retire upon his return from his current South American tour and that Spaatz will take over his assignment.

Arnold wanted to retire sometime between Feb. 1 and Feb. 15, the President said, but he added that he did not know the exact effective date at this time.

A war department source said yesterday the change would probably be made Feb. 15.

Bromfield Flays U. S. Lend-Lease

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 24—Farmer-author Louis Bromfield, sorrowing that "America's real wealth is gone," says lend-lease was the "biggest, most generous and disastrous contribution ever made by any nation to war in the history of the world."

"We shall be paying for it generations hence," he told the Pennsylvania Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association's banquet last night, a feature of the three-day state farm show here.

Debts of money can be paid off "easily enough under inflation," he said, "but nothing can restore to this nation the real wealth which gives value to that money"—ore, oil, forests and labor of man.

Bromfield declared that when America's "real wealth is gone we shall become a third or fourth-rate nation," and emphasized that "we have been destroying our real wealth as rapidly as possible," to the point where many of our natural resources "are exhausted or on the rapid way to exhaustion."

Calling for "50-cents-a-bushel corn at a good profit rather than $1-a-bushel corn produced at a loss and subsidized by taxpayers' money," Bromfield suggested the nation's economy must be based on agriculture and the cost of food, "which is the basic item in the cost of living."

AIR MASSES BRING UNUSUAL WEATHER

(By Associated Press)

Alternate masses of cold and warm air were moving across the country today, subjecting some areas to frigid temperatures but giving others mild mid-winter weather.

It still was unseasonably cold along the Atlantic seaboard, from Maine to Georgia. Coldest spot in the country today was Greenville, Me., with a recording of nine degrees below zero. A belt of cold air with temperatures down to 15 degrees extended from Pennsylvania to central North Carolina.

But just west of the Appalachian mountains, in a diagonal line from Ohio to the southwest, was an area of warm weather. Still farther west, another stream of cold air was pouring into the western Dakotas anl Northern Plains states.

Endorse Eisenhower Call For Draftees

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's call for 250,000 new draftees by July 1 won a conditional endorsement today on Capitol Hill.

The special senate investigators of the demobilization tempest reported that prospective selectees plus volunteers could ensure the 1,500,000-man which Eisenhower insists is essential to carry out commitments after mid-year.

The army chief of staff emphasized when he testified before the inquiry that only if the lagging draft "is able to provide the 50,000 men per month we are askeng for will the 1,500,000-man army be guaranteed under our present discharge policy."

The senate military subcommittee recommended continuing "the rate of demobilization of the past few months." It also was of the opinion that the current recruiting drive would produce more volunteers than army estimates, thereby reducing the number of draftees required.

The report filed by the subcommittee yesterday advocated the discharge of all fathers in the army by July 1, except volunteers — something Eisenhower testified could not be done.

OHIO'S LABOR FRONT GROWS MORE CLOUDY

Railroad and Utility Strike Threats Add To Gloom

Already blackened by a paralyzing steel strike, Ohio's labor picture took on further gloom today with the possibility of walkouts by railroad and power company workers.

A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, reported in Cleveland yesterday that a strike vote was being started among the union's 215,000 members and that unless an offer was received from the railroads, a strike could follow within three days after the balloting.

The brotherhood president, who declared it was possible some trainmen might walk off their jobs without a vote, estimated completion of the balloting would take about three weeks.

Utilities Strike Hovers

In Zanesville an all-day conference between officials of the Ohio Power Co. and the CIO-Utilities Workers union ended last night without an agreement in the union's demand for higher wages.

Union members employed by the Ohio Power Co., the Dayton Power and Light Co. and the Ohio Edison Co. have threatened to strike Jan. 30 unless a wage settlement is reached. Officials of the three companies planned to meet with union representatives and Gov. Frank J Lausche in Columbus today.

An additional railroad strike threat was raised in Cleveland yesterday by Grand Chief Engineer Alvanley Johnston of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who said there was a "distinct possibility" a strike vote would be authorized Feb. 1 at a meeting of brotherhood chairmen from each of the railroads. The brotherhood has some 78,000 members.

In Washington, a spokesman for the railroad brotherhoods said that once a strike date is set, the national (railway) mediation board probably would recommend that the President appoint an emergency fact finding board as prescribed under the Railway Labor act.

Whitney's brotherhood represents brakemen, flagmen, dining car stewards, yard masters, yard men, switch tenders and "about two-thirds" of the conductors.

Steel Pinch Felt

As the steel strike entered its fourth day, more plants throughout the state dependent upon steel for operating began to feel the pinch.

Two mines employing some 1,800 workers already have shut down because Republic Steel is unable to continue using the shafts' daily output.

Picketing in the steel dispute affecting some 200,000 Ohio workers meanwhile continued in an orderly fashion with no further reports of violence. The only cases reported so far have been in Cincinnati.

97 Ships Will Be Guinea Pigs For Atomic Sea Test In May

By WILLIAM A. KINNEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Navy raised the curtain today on its plans for testing the atomic bomb against a great armada of fighting ships—an experiment expected to revolutionize sea warfare.

A guinea pig fleet of 97 vessels, ranging from carriers and battleships, submarines and transports to an assortment of smaller craft such as landing ships, will be the atomic target in the vast operation to start in May.

The laboratory selected is the anchorage of Bikini atoll, one of the northernmost of the Marshall islands which were wrested from Japan by amphibious assault two years ago.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, head of the Navy's division on special weapons, ticked off for the senate atomic energy committee these details of the epochal experiment, known by the codeword "Operation Crossroads".

1. In the target fleet will be 50 operating ships—two aircraft carriers, four battleships, two cruisers, 16 destroyers, eight submarines and 15 transports from U. S. fleets, plus a German heavy cruiser, a Japanese battleship and light cruiser—and 47 of other craft such as landing ships.

2. The undertaking "is not combined or international operation, but rather a scientific experiment by the United States government alone." The question of permitting foreign observers has not yet been decided.

3. The unmanned target ships "will be anchored and placed in a manner calculated to give effects varying from probable destruction to negligible damage" in each type.

4. The first test, early in May, calls for detonating an atomic bomb at an altitude of several hundred feet above the target vessels. A second test, tentatively set for July 1, will be an atomic burst at the water's surface in the target area.

5 A deep water test in the open sea is planned later, but technical difficulties preclude its coming off this year.

6. "Task force one"—a fleet of 50 additional U.S. Navy ships with a complement of 20,000 men—will set up the experiment and make arrangements for recording its results by all modern scientific techniques.

Target vessels include the Saratoga, oldest U. S. carrier afloat which carried the fight from Guadalcanal to Jap home waters; the cruiser Salt Lake City; the battleships Pennsylvania and Nevada, two Pearl Harbor victims that came back from destruction to slug out the rest of the war; the Arkansas, oldest battlewagon in the navy; the New York and the "cruiser carrier" Independence.

Captured German and Japanese units also will be used.

Bowles, Under Increasing Pressure, May Force Issue

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. — An administration showdown appears to be brewing over whether government price policies should be eased because of mounting industrial strife.

"This whole price control question is building up to a terrific issue," one government official familiar with the backstage controversy that has been going on for some time asserted today.

This official, who asked to remain anonymous, said OPA Administrator Chester Bowles has been encountering increasing pressure from some government agencies for a more liberal interpretation of existing price policies.

The greatest pressure has come, the official said, from Secretary of Agriculture Anderson who publicly has advocated higher retail prices for meat and butter.

Lesser Pressure

To a lesser extent, the official added, pressure had been exerted by Reconversion Director John W. Snyder and Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small.

Bowles has argued that the only way to prevent inflation is to allow no price increases other than those presently authorized.

Against this stand, those reportedly in favor of relaxation are said to be convinced there should be more "give" in the price policy so the government would have more leeway in wage disputes.

Also they are said to feel that OPA should grant moderate price increases more freely as an incentive to greater output of essential goods.

Bowles is understood to have taken the position that if some price increases which have been advocated are to be granted, there must be a revision of wage-price policy.

Escaped Convict, Once 'Dead', Held For Ohio Murder

(By Associated Press)

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Jan. 24—Once reported dead, Wilbur Streeter of Gallipolis, O., who is under indictment for the murder of an Ironton, O., garageman, was back in San Quentin prison today—ending a flight from justice that began last Christmas eve.

Warden Clinton T. Duffy announced yesterday that Streeter was found working in a Woodland, Calif., sugar refinery after another employe recognized his picture in a San Francisco newspaper.

The 26-year-old Ohioan, serving five years to life here for a San Francisco holdup, is wanted in the Buckeye state on a murder indictment in the kidnap-robbery slaying of Charles Addis, 35, of Ironton. Addis was found slain at Otway (Scioto county), O., May 12, 1943.

The Scioto county prosecutor, Marvin A. Kelly of Portsmouth, O., said that shortly before Streeter fled San Quentin last year, he received a forged letter saying the Ohioan had died of tuberculosis. A forged death certificate and coroner's report also were received.

Warden Duffy said Streeter, before his escape, worked in the prison's classification division and had access to prison records.

The false death report, brought to light while Streeter was at large, was uncovered by Kelly, who said he "became certain something was wrong with the 'death report' when the warden's office asked for a new detainer against Streeter".

Robert Hatfield, now serving a term in the Ohio penitentiary for a Brown county robbery, was tried for the garageman's murder but was acquitted after ballistics experts testified the bullets that killed Addis came from a gun a Gallipolis hardware dealer had sold Streeter.

SAYS FAIRLESS SHOULD AGREE TO COMPROMISE

Declares Government Seizure of Steel Plants Not Practical Now

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—President Truman today termed current labor disputes a struggle for power between management and labor.

The President added that the United States Steel Corp. should accept his proposal for an 18½ cents wage increase for its workers.

Mr. Truman's views were expressed at a news conference.

Asked about a proposal by Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, that he call an all-management conference on wages, the President said he was always ready to talk to business leaders.

However, he added, the best thing Fairless can do is send word that he accepts the White House proposal for settling the steel strike.

Seizure Not Practical Now

Mr. Truman said he thought it was not practical to seize the steel industry at the present time. He would not say the industry would not be seized eventually if the strike is prolonged, however.

He also said that the striking meat workers will go back to work at their old wages when the government seizes the meat plants Saturday.

If steel is eventually seized, the president added, the steel workers, too, must go back at current wages.

Asserting that both management and labor have too much power, the President declared much of today's industrial strife is merely a try-out for power and added it was necessary for the government to assert itself, to assert the power of the people.

The President said, under questioning, that he has done everything he could to settle the steel strike in the absence of legislation supporting his fact-finding and "cooling off" procedure. The steel strike, he continued, is not in the public interest.

The public interest requires that the steel industry settle its dispute with the CIO Steelworkers' union on a basis of the increase he suggested.

Blames Congress

A reporter asked what he meant in saying the government should assert itself further in labor disputes.

The President replied he had asked congress for legislation it had not seen fit to give him.

At the present time, the President said, he didn't see how the steel workers could return to their jobs unless the management accepted his proposal.

He also disclosed that government-built steel plant in Utah is under consideration. He made this disclosure when he was asked about a CIO proposal that "about a billion dollars" worth of government-owned steel plants be turned over to individuals willing to give workers the pay increase recommended by the President.

Strike Picture At A Glance

(By Associated Press)

Coal mines closed by steel strike force 14,000 workers off job, boosting country's idle because of labor disputes to 1,635,000.

Major developments:

MEAT — Government proceeds with plans to take over operation of country's strike-bound meat packing plants Saturday but whether 193,000 striking CIO employes will return to work remains undecided pending union meeting tomorrow; 70,000 AFL workers to end strike which started Jan. 16 over wage dispute.

STEEL—Union and management turned anew to President Truman for solution of paralyzing four-day old steel strike; U. S. Steel president proposes national wage policy; union committee recommends government-owned steel plant facilities be made available for private operations.

RAILROADS—Last-minute arbitration events threatened strike of 1,500 Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen employed on three shuttle railroads which serve all major lines converging in Chicago.

AUTOMOTIVE — CIO United Auto Workers resume wage talks with Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. but union and General Motors make no move to seek resumption of negotiations; strike of 175,000 workers at GM plants in ninth week.

Who's Neurotic?

An Englewood, N. J., school teacher has been trying to form a national organization of neurotic malcontents to do something about the state of things in general. He claims statistics show that one out of 20 Americans is or has been under treatment for mental ills of one sort or another. And he concludes that there must be something wrong with an environment in which these mental ills flourish.

The Englewood educator seems to feel that psychiatrists have been going about the job the wrong way. They have been trying to fit the individual to his environment, he says, when what they should be doing is fitting the environment to the individual.

Well, a lot of people these days are trying to do just that. But they are discontented, maladjusted, or full of persecution complexes and delusions of grandeur. They aren't, however, the self-confessed neurotics that the Englewood teacher is seeking. On the contrary, they are the people who would heartily resent any suggestion that they aren't mentally healthy, normal and, of course, dead right in their beliefs.

The results of their symptoms and their efforts are obvious. Discontented soldiers are clamoring to come home. Discontented wage earners are out on strike. Persecuted employers are refusing to budge an inch, claiming that the discontented wage earners are out to destroy them.

Delusions of grandeur are busting out all over—among congressmen, industrialists, labor leaders, all of them self-appointed saviors of democracy, the American way of life, free enterprise, or anything else that happens to want saving at the moment.

The great trouble, of course, is that these people are trying to change the national environment to fit their own particular tastes. And since their tastes have a way of being totally dissimilar, the result is the rather sorry mess we find ourselves in today.

So the man from Englewood may have something there, at that. Perhaps what we need is an organization of admittedly confused people, humble people who will say, "We ain't happy," and then try to do something about it.

Of course, it might be that they, too, would get into a fight over what is wrong and how to fix it. But it might also be possible that their search for surroundings of reasonable happiness and contentment would take them back to some fundamentals that have become lost in the postwar shuffle—things like a fairer shake for "us" rather than just for "me"; an end of economic strife for strife's sake; less grandiose promises for tomorrow and more effort toward a pleasanter world today.

Anyway, it would be an interesting experiment to watch for those of us who occasionally wake up in the middle of the night with the cold feeling that everything's screwy, everyone's discontented, and that only the Grade A neurotic has much chance of keeping his balance.

See Here, Mister Hargrove

Fame occasionally plays some peculiar and unfortunate tricks, especially when it comes suddenly or too early in one's life. It apparently has in the case of Marion Hargrove, of "See Here, Private Hargrove" fame, although he doesn't realize it now. Coming to him both too suddenly and too early in life, he isn't prepared to meet it and accepts it in a false light. In short, he takes himself too seriously, whereas his rapidly fleeting fame came to him in the form of humor, unwittingly displayed.

The result, quite apparent in his Town Hall talk in Salem Tuesday night, is that the public is discovering his boyish seriousness in what they previously had accepted as awkward humor. In relating how everything possible is wrong with the army, he reminds some of us old veterans of World War I of the "Everybody's Out of Step But Jim" ditty so popular in those postwar days. Many of the things he finds wrong with the army were wrong with it when we were doing a little soldiering for Uncle Sam. But we've grown a little more mature and in time so will Mister Hargrove. Then he will discover that a training camp is not a college campus, that war is a serious business conducted on so large a scale that many mistakes and injustices creep in, as they always have in every army in every war ever fought.

Viewed strictly from the angle of relaxing entertainment, his talk here was a welcome relief from postwar problems that have been making all of us dizzy. Viewed from any other angle would be lending false encouragement to a disillusioned youth.

A Flock of Scapegoats

Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short's opening statement to the joint committee of Congress investigating circumstances of the Dec. 7, 1941, disaster at Pearl Harbor is high-lighted by its author's contention that he was made the War department's scapegoat for a departmental failure.

Unfortunately, the public became an unwitting accomplice in the scapegoat strategy. Information available at the time—information that had been screened by War department officials—indicated that Gen. Short and Admiral Husband E. Kimmel were personally to blame.

The value of the congressional investigation lies in removal of the impression that the two men in direct command of military forces in the Hawaiian area made all the bad decisions that compounded the success of Japan's attack. The public has been given an insight to the workings of the chain of command. Gen. Short and Admiral Kimmel were subject to orders that would have had to be ignored to give Pearl Harbor the security its vital importance deserved. They were not well informed of what was happening in Washington. Their responsibility for what happened was shared with officers and officials above them, principally with the chiefs of staff and the chief executive of the United States. There were two scapegoats designated for Pearl Harbor. The blame was shared by a flock of candidates.

The Prediction Was Sound

On June 25, 1943, both houses of Congress overrode Franklin D. Roosevelt's veto of the Connally-Harness-Smith anti-strike bill within a few hours after the veto message had reached the Capitol.

Mr. Roosevelt predicted the section of the legislation providing for strike notices and ballots would "stimulate labor unrest and give government sanction to strike agitations".

Every major strike now in progress was called after strike notices and ballots. Moreover, the government itself, running truer to Mr. Roosevelt's prediction than he could have imagined in 1943, gave its sanction to the agitations that preceded the strikes.

The folly of passing laws in anger and repenting at leisure is worth congressional attention. Many congressmen again are threatening to line up behind legislation calculated to widen the rift between management and organized labor.

The keeper of a general store in Japan wants to be emperor, on account of an ancestor being wrongfully kicked off the throne 600 years ago.

To him we would offer this gratuitous advice: Curb your vaulting ambition. Divine imperialism in Japan was never at a lower ebb. Furthermore, as a general storekeeper you are bothered neither with a meat strike nor with the OPA. So stick where you are, bub, you don't know when you're well off.

The Stars Say

For Friday, January 25.

A DIFFICULT day in which the affairs seem to work at cross purposes, with little promise or progress. It seems to demand rigid curb on tongue and temper in order to accomplish anything of consequence, in business, home, social or romantic ambitions.

Personal life and its needs are insistent on considerate conduct and since the physical condition may be low, it might be as well to make it a weekend of rest, relaxation or diversion.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of trial, difficulties and lack of progress in all cherished desires in both home and business. Friction, jealousy, ill-temper and words or arguments may produce unhappy reactions on the physical well-being, so it might be urgent to seek diversion in social, affectional or cultural matters in order to shun loss or regrets and to ease up taut nerves.

A child born on this day may have artistic or social graces but may not be disposed to undertake more prosaic tasks, their vitality being low and nerve tension high.

Riches or wretches—the stock market plays no favorites!

The shortage of liquor is keeping a lot of people from getting a head.

Three Main Groups of Anemia

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

MANY people think that just because a person is pale, he is suffering from anemia or a lessening of the coloring in the blood. However, anemia may not be present, for the pallor or paleness that is seen may come from other causes. Fortunately, a physician can quite easily diagnose anemia by means of a simple examination of the blood.

There are three main groups of anemia. One group is due entirely to a deficiency of iron in the body, and is known as hypochromic anemia. The second group is due almost entirely to long-continued infections and is known as mild normochronic anemia.

Severe Group

A severe normochromic anemia, the third group, may be due to infection, nephritis, or chronic kidney inflammation, destruction of red blood cells from various causes and to two conditions known as pernicious anemia and aplastic anemia.

Long-continued bleeding is the most common cause of anemia due to a deficiency of iron, or hypochromic anemia. In men, this bleeding is usually from the stomach or bowel due to piles, ulcer, or cancer. In women, bleeding from the stomach and bowel also occurs, but bleeding from the uterus or womb causes many more cases of anemia in women.

In anemia caused by bleeding, of course, the most important part of the treatment is to determine the cause for it and remove it. Operation is necessary in some cases when there is excessive bleeding from the uterus. X-ray treatments also may be helpful.

In addition, the diet should contain a liberal quantity of protein foods, such as meat, milk, and eggs, as well as those rich in iron, such as vegetables and whole-grain cereals. Iron-containing preparations such as iron and ammonium citrate or ferrous sulfate are often employed.

Remove Infection

The anemias in the second group due to infections, are treated by getting rid of the infection and giving a high protein diet and iron-containing preparations.

Pernicious anemia, which belongs to the third group, is treated by liver or liver extract. In some anemias, such as aplastic, in the third group, there is no treatment which has proven to be of any particular avail.

Once anemia is found to be present, a careful search is made for the type and the cause. Then, effective treatment may be employed.

MADRID, Jan. 24.—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, chief of the Spanish state, has granted me an interview which has taken one of the most unusual turns I've encountered in a long experience with heads of governments and diplomats.

Highlights of his statements are these:

He is anxious for good relations with the United States. He never subscribed to the policies or to the political views of Hitler and Mussolini and he condemns their persecutions. Spain is developing along her own lines, uninfluenced by either Germany or Italy, and he (Franco) is heading for absolute democratic rule by the people.

As for the hotly debated question of a return of the Spanish monarchy, he says: "It will be approached when this is suitable to the interests of the nation. When this comes, it will have to be the Spaniards themselves who pronounce themselves in its favor."

The generalissimo rarely gives interviews, and in granting my request for one asked that I submit my questions in advance. When I arrived at his residence I had little hope that I should get more than formal replies to my written queries.

However, while awaiting my summons in the truly regal reception room, amidst the Goya tapestries and other priceless treasures, I decided I should try for a more open and intimate discussion of Spain's problems.

Accordingly, when we had disposed of the formal queries and answers, I said to him: "If it is permissible I should like to ask another question. It's a very blunt one, and my sole purpose in putting it is to provide an opportunity for an answer which may help relations between our two countries.

"The people of the United States have fought a great war against Nazism and Fascism. Thousands of our boys have died for this cause. Rightly or wrongly the American public feels that Spain was in effect an ally of Germany and Italy, and it finds it hard to forgive that. Did you subscribe to or support Nazi and Fascist policies?

The generalissimo shook his head.

"No," he declared categorically. "I did not. Spain wasn't influenced by Germany and Italy, but has been developing along its own lines. We condemned all the persecutions which were carried out by those countries. There was no racial trouble in Spain. The Jews weren't persecuted here, nor was any other religion. There is religious freedom for all in Spain."

"Do you subscribe to the political views of Hitler and Mussolini?" I persisted.

He replied emphatically that he did not, and then said in amplification:

"Spain went through a bad civil war, and after such a conflict the country must proceed carefully. It can't jump to another regime haphazardly.

I asked the generalissimo if he had anything he would like to add apart from my questions. He answered:

"Wars accelerate political development and this may mean that Spain and America will be drawn nearer together."

Share Your Home, Is Appeal of OPA

Urging home owners in this rental area to help relieve the acute housing shortage by sharing their homes with veterans and their families, Samuel M. Noyles, area rent director, said that the Office of Price Administration is assisting the program in every way possible.

Few residents of this district realize the difficulties which veterans are encountering in attempting to find a suitable place to live or more homes would be opened up to veterans and their families, Noyes said.

False reports have been circulated about OPA regulations discouraging families from renting out spare rooms. Actually OPA is encouraging the renting of rooms by making it as easy as possible for owners to do so.

Rooms which were not rented before may be rented immediately at a price the owner believes to be in line with ceilings. Within 30 days, the owner should file a notice of the rental rate with the OPA office to determine if it is in line.

Noyes urged that persons wishing to convert a section of their homes into an apartment apply to the area rent office for a preliminary rental figure.

Landlords will be given an adequate amount for the increased cost of construction since 1939 above rents on comparable units frozen on the maximum rent date, Noyes said.

Ohio May Acquire Fletcher Hospital

COLUMBUS, Jan. 24.—The Ohio postwar program commission's mental hospital committee recommended today that the state purchase the army's Fletcher General hospital at Cambridge, to care for the mentally ill, and Gov. Frank J. Lausche moved to overcome opposition to the proposal.

The governor called a conference here Jan. 29 to discuss plans for future use of Fletcher with citizens of Cambridge, who reportedly are opposed to establishment of a mental institution there.

The recommendation to purchase the hospital was made after State Welfare Director Frazier Reams and the program commission's hospital committee toured the installation yesterday.

Reams said the 20-acre property could accommodate some 2,400 patients.

He estimated there were "more than 5,000 mentally ill Ohioans who should be hospitalized" in addition to the 26,000 now overcrowding existing facilities, and suggested that the state also could use the Scioto ordnance works at Marion in its program.

In Washington, Sen. James W. Huffman (D-Ohio) predicted the War Department soon would declare Scioto ordnance as surplus, and Rep. Frederick S. Smith (R-Ohio) asserted he would recommend the city of Marion should get the ordnance works to meet war veteran housing problems.

Reams said "Ohio wants Fletcher very badly."

At the next meeting Feb. 1 the new officers are to have charge of the program, including a surprise feature.

Joseph Vogelhuber, who just returned from action in south Pacific, spoke briefly.

Plans are being made for a Valentine party in February.

Ohio Schools Told Where To Get Surplus Property

COLUMBUS, Jan. 24.—The state department of education told Ohio schools today they should apply for surplus property direct to federal disposal agencies until Feb. 16, after which the application will be processed by the state department.

It listed these offices for obtaining surplus property:

Office of surplus property, capital goods division of reconstruction finance corporation, Empire building, Cleveland, for capital goods such as cutting tools, electronics equipment and heavy machinery;

Office of surplus property, consumer goods division of RFD, 704 Race st., Cincinnati, for consumer goods such as physical education equipment, motor vehicles and office supplies.

Schools should continue to apply to the education department surplus property director for obsolete, excess and salvage materials, to be made available without charge to schools which offered pre-induction training for men being drafted.

On the Road Back

"I don't think that we are going to the dogs, I think we are coming back," declared Att'y Peters when he discussed, "The Dawn of a New Era, and What It Will Demand of Us" at the Wednesday afternoon session.

The speaker pointed out that the three great pillars of the passing civilization are the home, school and church. These must be retained if we are to build a bigger, better civilization than we have ever known.

He said it is "kid thinking" that we are going to get something for nothing. One way to increase our wealth is to go to work. It's immature thinking when we say let Uncle Sam pay the bill.

Att'y Peters said "this industrial age has emancipated women, but are they any better off?" He expressed the opinion that this industrial age is responsible for the increase in divorces. In the new civilization we will have to have homes.

There will be a change in our school system, according to Peters. We have been educating too many young people for white collar jobs. We are going to have to teach young people to work with their hands.

He said we will have to do some constructive thinking in the way of conservation of human resources. His concluding thought was "We are our brother's keeper."

In discussing "Developing the Spirit of Fair Play" Miss Wilson stated that the Golden Rule, boiled down, is the definition or fair play. "The Golden Rule will work every place it is tried," she said.

The speaker gave incidents of how it has worked when practiced by big business, little business and individuals.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"
Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LOOK OUT FOR PIN-WORMS

Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong! And these pests, living inside the human body, can cause real distress.

So watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms—especially the aggravating rectal itch. Get JAYNE'S P-W and follow the directions.

P-W is the Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, after years of patient research. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.

Ask your druggist: P-W for Pin-Worms!

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Wonder if Larry MacPhail, who never has been accused of overlooking publicity values, isn't missing a bet by taking the Yankee "names" to Panama? . . . The guys who write baseball appear quite content to settle down in St. Pete and wait for the stars to return before writing about them. . . . Branch Rickey already has gone south to get his chalk and blackboard ready for the Dodgers' February camp at Sanford, Fla., where would-be managers will get a lot of training along with the ex-GI's. . . . Chick Meehan, who surveyed the field, is willing to bet that the Los Angeles Rams draw more football customers next fall than any other club except the Giants and that they'll do better than New York's first five games.

MESS O' SMITHS

The Portsmouth, N. H., High school basketball team has four players named Smith—Captain Horn, his brother Al, Charlie, a cousin, and Don, no relation to the other three. . . . The coach is Murl Messersmith. . . . The fans down east call 'em "Messersmith's Mess o' Smiths".

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Dud De Groot says he won't take any of the Redskin footballers to Los Angeles but the Yankees' Ray Flaherty, who coached them before Dud, hints that he may have a few before next season. . . . That doesn't include Sammy Baugh and Steve Bagarus, who have personal contracts with George (Washington-done) Marshall. . . . Ohio is going in for night harness racing in a big way next summer with a 12-night meeting opening at Wapakoneta May 30, followed by 18 nights at Marion. . . . All you can say about the recent "election" for the baseball hall of fame is that Cooperstown hasn't a chance.

Golf Supplies Situation Far From Easing at Once, Manufacturers Tell Sports

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—The average golfer will have to belt a pellet of synthetic rubber most of 1946 and chances are he will have to shop hard and long to replace that battered "duration" driver.

Representatives of two ranking athletic equipment concerns today sized up the golf supply situation and said those bouncy pre-war balls will not be on the market before August and perhaps not at all this season. The latest synthetic balls, however, will be "almost as good," they amended.

Production of clubs will be fairly brisk by May or June, but the steel strike threatens to slacken manufacture of club shafts.

George Dawson of the A. G. Spalding and Brothers Co. said a "rumor" that crude rubber would be released this month by the government for golf ball manufacture was squelched when federal officials decided they needed more time to study the nation's overall crude rubber again would be available.

L. B. Icely, president of Wilson Sporting Goods Co., predicted it would be at least six months before cruder ubber again would be available.

He estimated that half of the normal annual demand of two and a half million dozen balls could be filled this year with the synthetic rubber product which will replace re-processed balls sold earlier in the war.

Icely said his company would allocate clubs on a basis of 1941 sales and only 25 per cent of normal production probably would be reached this year. Pointing out that golfers normally buy two million clubs a year, he said there was a "terrific" demand since no clubs have been manufactured for almost five years.

Spalding expects to make its first postwar distribution of clubs within the next 45 days, Dawson said.

Dawson said the United States Golf association may make use of synthetic rubber balls mandatory in tournaments because only "a few top-notchers can afford to pay $75 or $100 a dozen for pre-war balls."

Both Icely and Dawson insisted the average golfer "won't know the difference" between the two. "Some may have to adapt their game to the new balls," Dawson said. "I may be a little slower around the greens but a harder swing will remedy that."

The Heat's On

Lou Boudreau obviously feels diathermy treatment on ankle given him by Dr. Charles Alexander at Harvey, Ill. Cleveland's short-stopping manager broke it late last season, will be back on two good pins this spring.

LEGION PASSERS PLAY HOST TO E. LIVERPOOL SATURDAY

Hoping to hit the victory trail once more after a five-point loss to the East Palestine American Legion passers last Saturday, the Salem American Legion "road" quintet will play host to the Wedgewood post cagers of East Liverpool at 8:15 p. m. Saturday on the Salem High school hardwood.

Still nettled by the one-point defeat handed them by the local aggregation in a hotly-contested fray in East Liverpool last week, the Pottery city flippers hope to avenge that loss, which represents the only blot on their record in seven tilts this year.

Since losing to Salem, the Wedgewood five has chalked up two wins by large margins, thumping the Neville Island cagers of the Greater Pittsburgh league, 57-31, and trimming the Syder club of Aliquippa, Pa., 50-39.

Mackey Gets 22

Porter Mackey, the Wedgewood combine's leading scorer, had a bad night against the Pittsburghers as he netted only four points but he bounced back with a 22 point spree against the Syder club last night.

In the first contest between the locals and East Liverpool, Mackey blazed 32 points through the cords in staging a red hot scoring duel with Salem's long shot artist, Ray "Goose" McGaffick, who tallied 27 markers.

Expected to start the game for the visitors in Saturday's game are Mackey and "Peanuts" Bennett at the forwards, Dick Bailey at the pivot and Jobey Wetzel and Jack Maley at the guards. Bailey will probably alternate with the newest addition to the roster, "Bones" Neselrode.

Name Salem Lineup

Probable starting lineup for the locals will be Les Knepp, Kenny Shears, Bob "Doggie" Scullion, McGaffick and Frankie Culler.

A preliminary contest between the Salem High freshman five and the Fairmount Children's home has been arranged with the game slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

The contest will give Salem fans their first chance to see the yearlings in action.

A possible added attraction will be a wrestling exhibition between Frank "Toar" Julian and one of the Wukotich twins between halves of the feature game. Final arrangements for this event have not yet been completed.

Dodson In Fog

Leonard Dodson, playing in $25,000 Victory Bond San Francisco Open in topcoat, turns in 12-above-par 84, but gets laugh from gallery for dig at California weather.

Red Birds Add Cardinal

COLUMBUS, Jan. 24.—The Columbus Red Birds of the American Association have purchased Augie Bergamo, 27-year-old outfielder from the St. Louis Cardinals. Bergamo played with Columbus' Championship clubs from 1941 through 1943.

Youngstown Rayen, Winner Over Canton McKinley, On Salem Card For Tomorrow

Although not a highly-rated powerhouse themselves, it seems to have become the fate of the Salem High Quakers to take on the best in the district—time and time again.

Tomorrow evening, at the High school gym, Coach Bob Miller's ill-fated quintet gets another stiff assignment: Meeting the Youngstown Rayen aggregation which just last week startled Ohio cage observers by upsetting Canton McKinley, 26-24.

Another fate the Quakers seem to be well acquainted with is meeting a powerhouse team just a few days before it becomes weakened by mid-year graduation.

Last week it was Warren, which lost two men this week via the commencement lines, and this week it is Raven. The Youngstowners lose their big gun, Lefty Tabachino at graduation Tuesday.

Regardless of the gloomy outlook as the locals face the No. 1 Youngstown team, Coach Miller is somewhat encouraged over the progress of his squad since last week.

Look Better

Last night at the High school gym the Varsity laced a talented American Legion Class A league entry in a sixty-minute scrimmage session.

Bob Pager, racked up 20 points.

Besides defeating McKinley, the Rayenites have won over Girard, Boardman Youngstown East Youngstown Chaney, Austintown Fitch and Alumni.

The lone loss was suffered in an early game to Springfield township, 41-35, when flu had taken its toll among Tiger stars.

Tabachino, a forward, teams up with George Stevenson at the other front spot, while Jerry Goldberg, slightly over six feet, works the pivot assignment.

Manuel Parada and Jim Whittow at guards form an aggresive offensive combination and a bulwark of defensive power on the Tiger crew.

Coach Miller probably will start Jimmie Laughlin, Mo Hollinger, Pager, Tony Martinelli and Martin "Butch" Roth again this week.

To date the locals have won three and lost seven.

The reserve contest will begin at 7:30 and the varsity should start around 8:45.

Lawrence County Gaming Investigation Ordered

COLUMBUS, Jan. 24. — Gov. Frank J. Lausche has extended his war on gambling to Lawrence county.

The governor yesterday directed Lawrence county Sheriff Milton B. Rucker to report to him here Friday on gambling conditions in his county.

Lausche said a report by state liquor inspectors indicated 16 slot machines in operation at the Buckeye club near Burlington on the night they visited the establishment.

The club, Lausche said, did not have a liquor license and inspectors reported they found no violation of liquor laws there.

Mrs. Earnest L. Unroe of Proctorville informed him, the governor reported, her husband lost $1,200 gambling at the Buckeye club last Dec. 11. She said she had saved the money to buy a home, Lausche added.
